

SHORT BIO (Ending July, 2018)

Dr. V. V. SADAMATE, Former Adviser Agriculture, Planning Commission(born 1st June,1953 at Deshing, Maharashtra, India), did his graduation from Pune Agriculture College (1973) and Masters / PhD programmes in Agricultural Extension from Indian Agricultural Research Institute (IARI), New Delhi in 1975 &1979 respectively. Pursued Post - Doc from Michigan State University, USA as a Fulbright Senior Research Scholar. Obtained advanced Extension Management training at Wisconsin, Cornell University and Royal Institute of Public Administration (RIPA) London, UK. Widely travelled across the continents for extension studies, consultancies and training programmes.

Worked with ICAR as Junior Scientist (1978-1982) & with the Ministry of Agriculture (1982-2005) in various capacities including Director and Additional Commissioner (Extension) before joining Planning Commission as Adviser Agriculture (2006-2013). Retired from Ministry of Agriculture in May, 2013. Worked as Principal Consultant with Food &Agricultural Organization (FAO), New Delhi and developed their Country Programme Framework Document (2013). Was associated with the Ministry of Rural Development on their World Bank assisted Watershed project Neeranchal as Agricultural Convergence Expert (2013-15).

Attended COP-19 at Warsaw, Poland, COP-21 at Paris, France, COP-22 at Marrakech, Morocco, GACSA 2017 FAO, Rome and Chaired SDG Conference 2018 at Kandy, Sri Lanka. Actively involved in follow up actions both within and overseas. Presently working as Independent Consultant on Agricultural Extension Reforms, Policy Advocacy, Agricultural HRD&also serving as Adjunct Faculty, Extension Division of IARI, New Delhi since 2013 -14.